Mandarin language Education Study Program accredited "very good" by the Accreditation Council for Education (LAMDIK)

Program's Profile

The International Class Program in Mandarin Language Education at UNESA offers a Double Degree and student exchange pathway in partnership with Central China Normal University (CCNU). This program is designed to produce highly skilled Mandarin educators, linguists, and professionals, with global academic exposure, advanced pedagogical training, and immersive cultural experiences in China.

Through a combination of coursework, international mobility, and real-world teaching practice, students gain both Indonesian and Chinese university qualifications, enhancing their career prospects in education, translation, and global business.

Program Pathway

Double Degree Program

Duration: 4 Years (2 years at Home University + 2 years at CCNU)

Degrees Awarded:

Bachelor of Education in Mandarin Language Teaching (Home University)

Bachelor of Arts in Teaching Chinese as a Foreign Language (CCNU)

Curriculum Highlights:

Year 1-2 (Home University): Foundation courses in basic Mandarin language skill, grammar, phonetics, and pedagogy.

Year 3-4 (CCNU): Advanced Mandarin language training (HSK 5-6), teaching methodologies, Chinese culture, and research projects.

Internship: Teaching practicum in the schools.

Student Exchange Program

Duration: 1 Semester or 1 Year at CCNU

Mandarin Language Immersion: Advanced language training (HSK 5).

Cross-Cultural Learning: Cross-cultural communication

Academic Exchange: Opportunity to take specialized education and linguistics courses at CCNU.

Extracurricular Engagement: Participate in CCNU's cultural activities, workshops, and research projects.

This international-class program with CCNU provides a unique opportunity for students to gain global exposure and strong career prospects in international education and beyond.
